CafChat is a small utility that lets you chat with your local area network users with a little bit of a twist. Why an alternative to Messenger Service and NET SEND?: I'm a big fan of Messenger Service and NET SEND. So much so, that I'm almost never at a shortage of computer programs to let me chat with others. With that in mind, why am I creating CafChat?: Well, as a programmer, I figured there had to be a better way. As a fellow programmer, I've always been interested in the possibility of creating apps that don't restrict the users of the programs I wrote. The sooner programmers learn how to create apps that communicate with other parts of the operating system, the faster we'll get toward a whole new era of computing. How does CafChat work?: CafChat is a batch file that can either be launched directly from within your Internet browser or be placed in the Startup folder of your Start Menu. As a result, this batch file is effectively a shortcut to the Messenger Service and NET SEND commands. Note: If you need to send a message to more than one user at a time, CafChat is not for you. For larger groups, you will need to resort to scripting methods.
